“An elegant blanc de blancs, with a finely detailed, creamy mousse. There’s a purity to the fruit flavors of poached white peach and orange granita that finds fine integration with accents of toasted brioche, grilled hazelnut and ground cardamom. Aging beautifully, this is rich in flavor yet still vibrant and well-focused through the lacy finish.”

The House

- In 1851, Charles Heidsieck founded his house in Reims when he was only 29 years old.
- In 1852, he was the very first champagne merchant to travel to America. He became a genuine phenomenon, soon earning the nickname “Champagne Charlie”.
- In 1867, Charles Heidsieck invested in Gallo - Roman Chalk Cellars dating back to the 2nd century; a labyrinth of underground galleries, dug by hand, creating ideal conditions for aging his wines.
- One of these galleries, Crayère n°9 has inspired the shape of our unique bottle.
