

BUGIA

BIANCO TOSCANA IGT 2017

93 POINTS

Robert Parker
WINE ADVOCATE

The 2017 Bugia is a pure expression of Ansonica from 80-year-old vines facing the azure sea off the coast of Tuscany. Made in a very simple and straightforward style, fermented in steel vats and released young to capture freshness and purity, Bugia is named after an old farmer who once tended to this vineyard. The bouquet evokes salty sea sensations with brimstone and sandy beach.

Although Ansonica is not a particularly fragrant grape variety, there are buoyant tones of white melon and summer peach and the wine makes a lasting impression on the palate, thanks to the richness of its mid-weight palate...a special Italian wine that tastes great straight out of the gate thanks to its primary freshness, it will surely reward even more complexity to those who have the patience to wait.

BIBI GRAETZ

