

“GREAT VALUE”

The Washington Post

2020 La Ciboise Rouge

Rhône Valley, AOP Luberon

“This fruity red wine from a leading French producer is a steal at $17

Michel Chapoutier is a leading producer in Hermitage, a top appellation in the northern Rhône Valley. He sources La Ciboise from the Luberon, less precious real estate that yields charming and affordable wines. This is a blend of grenache noir and syrah, aged in concrete vats for six months. The concrete lends a grippy texture without heavy flavorings of oak, allowing the blackberry and currant flavors to shine.”

Dave McIntyre
The Washington Post